South East Business magazine – ‘Ask the Expert’

We’re delighted to say that Wayne Griffiths, our managing director, is one of the team of experts South East Business magazine use to answer readers’ questions in the ‘Ask the Expert’ section of their magazine.

In the August / September 2017 issue, Wayne answered a question from the owner of a small business who, having received frequent offers of ‘business protection insurance’ (shareholder, key person and loan insurance), wanted to know whether it was really worth it.

Wayne’s response was that, like all insurance, if you don’t have it you won’t benefit from it, and, if you do need to make a claim, it could make a difference to the future of your business. To read Wayne’s reply in full, please click here for a PDF \(Link 1\) or click here to visit the online edition of South East Business magazine \(Link 2\); Wayne’s reply appearing on page 43.

As Wayne says, although there’s more information about the subject on our website at www.onefinancialsolutions.co.uk, it’s a good idea to talk to your financial adviser, review your circumstances and ask some meaningful ‘what-if’ questions.
